APIARIES

Dear Friends,

We would like to sincerely thank you for another outstanding year. We are deeply grateful for the continued support of our North Carolina and Georgia locations. As Rossman Apiaries continues to grow, we remain committed to putting our customers first in everything we do.

Beekeeping continues to present new challenges each year, making it increasingly important to stay ahead of issues such as mites and hive beetles while ensuring colonies remain strong and well nourished. To support your bees when they need an extra boost, we offer products such as high fructose corn syrup and pollen patties. Throughout this catalog, you will find a variety of products designed to help keep your bees healthy, productive, and performing at their full potential.

For more than 87 years, Rossman Apiaries has been proud to provide the quality products and dependable customer service that beekeepers can trust. Our goal is to help each customer select the products best suited to their individual needs, while avoiding unnecessary expenses on items that may not be useful at a given time. We understand that every beekeeper's situation is different, depending on factors such as location, number of hives, and physical demands. Our aim is to make beekeeping a rewarding and enjoyable experience rather than one of frustration or uncertainty.

As we continue to grow, all of us at Rossman Apiaries take great pride in serving and appreciating our customers. We warmly invite you to visit either of our locations if you are ever in the area.

We hope your bees remain healthy, your honey is sweet and abundant, and your enjoyment of beekeeping continues to grow.

About the Cover

*We all know what it is like in a crowded space.
These bees are moving out or so they thought.
All beekeepers deal with swarming. Just catch them up and put them in another box.*

Parts of a Modern Hive

Telescoping Cover

Galvanized sheet metal fits over sides and top to protect from weather.

Inner Cover

Creates a dead air space for insulation from heat and cold.

Shallow Supers

Used for surplus honey production.

Queen Excluder

Allows worker bees to pass thru, prevents queen from going higher and makes her lay eggs below.

Standard Hive Bodies

Queen lays eggs in these chambers and brood is raised.

Bottom Board

Forms the floor of the hive. Shown with entrance reducer.

Hive Stand

Keeps hive off the ground and provides a landing area for bees.

Deep One-Piece Drone Frames

Our one-piece plastic frame and foundation features a larger cell pattern encouraging the bees to build drone comb. As part of your Integrated Pest Management program for varroa mites, insert one drone frame into each hive. When the bees have capped the cells, place the frame in a plastic bag in the freezer overnight. Remove the frame from the freezer and let it warm to room temperature. Drag your capping scratcher across the cells, breaking them open, then place the frame back in the hive for the worker bees to clean out the dead drones and mites. Repeat the cycle as the bees refill and cap the cells.

Rossmann Quilt Board

The Vivaldi board is used for managing hive temperature and moisture. The screened vent slots provide ventilation in the hot months and mitigates moisture build up. The Vivaldi Screen enables moisture to efficiently allow moisture into the Vivaldi board by increasing the surface area of absorption. During the winter months you can use burlap, sheep wool, cedar shavings, or other natural material to help absorb the moisture. You can also provide emergency winter feeding of sugar directly through the screen. A telescoping lid may cover the ventilation slot, but this is intentional as the small gap between the lid and board still allows air flow while protecting from harsh weather.

Wax Tube Fastener

Wax Tube Fastener is ideal for securing foundation into grooved top bar (cut comb and chunk honey) frames. Metal cylinder is filled by lowering into container of hot, liquid beeswax. When cylinder is filled, wax is retained in cylinder by placing finger over air hole. With foundation in place, the wax tube fastener is run along the top bar groove. By removing finger from air hole, a small amount of wax flows out to cement the foundation.

High Fructose Corn Syrup

We carry ISOSWEET® 5500 HFCS. ISOSWEET® High Fructose Corn Syrup is a nutritive corn-based sweetener which is approximately 0.2 to 0.4 times as sweet as sugar. High fructose corn syrup is created when corn syrup undergoes enzymatic processing, producing a sweeter compound containing higher levels of fructose. All syrups provide stability, high osmotic pressure, and crystallization control, improving viscosity and sweetness across your product portfolio.

Vitamin B Healthy

This brand new feeding supplement can be used alone in syrups and protein patties or with Honey-B-Healthy and Amino-B-Booster. Helps provide needed nutrients vital for bee health and helps build strong colonies for maximum honey production and pollination. Can also be used to help build up weak, over-winterized colonies, packages, nucs and swarms.

Honey B Healthy

This new product is added to syrup and fed to bees in spring and fall, and during periods when no nectar is available. It is a natural product incorporating a special stabilized blend of dispersible essential oils. (Lemongrass and Spearmint Oils)

Amino-B Booster

Use this new product as a feeding stimulant to encourage brood rearing and to help fortify poor and overwintered pollen. It can also be used with Honey-B-Healthy.

Gear Honey Pump

The Maxant Honey Pump is an integral part of the honey house. End the bucket brigade! Use a pump to move your honey from the clarifier or sump to the filters and bottling tanks. The pump runs at a reasonable slow speed for just the right pumping. Pump is 1" NPT and comes ready to place in line. Customer provides clamps and food grade clear flex tubing for connections. Please note, honey must be at least 85° F. The honey pump cannot pump cold honey. (110 volt)

Continuous Wax Separator

Developed by Bill Mraz and Bill Maxant, this remarkable machine is designed to separate wax from the honey using centrifugal force. Auger your slurry to the center opening of the drum. (heat not required) The heavy honey is spun to the outer wall of the drum, while the dry wax accumulates around the honey towards the center opening. A reciprocating cutter shaves away the wax while clean honey spins through the ports in the bottom of the drum. This machine is a must for any large scale operation. Expect about three drums per hour. Customers report 10,000 lbs in 8 hours! (110 volt)

Gravity Clarifier

Stainless steel double wall tanks with a baffle. The heat adjustable Chromalux unit warms the water in the outer jacket and the honey flows easily to the pump under the baffle while the impurities rise to the surface. They are then stopped by the baffle and easily skimmed off. Unit includes outlet standpipe and glass water gauges. (110 volt)

Bottling Tanks

No honey house of any volume should be without a bottling tank and these Maxant tanks are considered some of the best in the industry. Not only are these 18-gauge double wall heated tanks great for storing and bottling recently extracted honey but they are also great for decrystallizing stored honey. They all come with a chromalux immersion heater, site water gauge, thermometer, brass plugs, cover, and the famous Maxant no drip valve. So don't ask yourself do I need one of these amazingly crafted tanks instead ask which size tank do I need. (110 volt)
